You will find this mural at the gateway to the Prestongrange Museum Trail from the West. Believe it or not, artists important in English design, such as William Latchford, were instrumental in the development of the mural. This visit is commemorated by a plaque on the High Street in recognition of the part that sea bathing would play in the future development. Jim Cursitor, creator of the Beam Engine Mural, is an established artist specialising in large scale images. He has worked throughout Scotland for textile, scenic art and designer.

At the other end of Prestonpans, the gateway from the East, a series of murals represents the Cockenzie Power Station, another mural by Andrew Crummy. This mural is dedicated to the local history of this important industrial area. Based on the annual Gala Queen parade and the Bonfire Meeting, the parade continues at the main element of Cockenzie Power Station. The parade is attended by many people, including the community, the sea bathing association and the locals. The parade includes the main element of Cockenzie Power Station.

The mural depicts the interpretation of poem Tam o’Shanter by Robert Burns. The mural was created by Tom Ewing and is located on an annual basis as our “Pride of Panners”. Salt was used for preserving fish and in the soap making process, as well as being widely exported. The mural was painted above the fireplace. James Fewell’s portrait dominates the mural, which also features his wife and two daughters. It is the interpretation of Prestonpans Historical Society. This mural was painted in 2007, the year marked as the 300th anniversary of the Battle of Prestonpans. The Battle of Prestonpans was a battle fought in 1745, during the Jacobite Rising. The battle is considered one of the significant events in Scottish history, leading to the end of the Stuart dynasty and the eventual restoration of the Hanoverian monarchy.

The Battle of Prestonpans mural was commissioned by Tom Ewing, a local artist, and created by a team of local artists. The mural depicts the iconic events of the battle, including the conflict between the Scottish Jacobites and the Hanoverian forces led by Sir John Cope. The mural is situated in the historic village of Prestonpans, and it serves as a symbol of the region’s rich historical heritage.

In the summer of 2007, the Battle of Prestonpans mural was unveiled as part of the annual Prestonpans Festival. The mural is located on the High Street, near the Cockenzie Power Station, and it has become a popular attraction for tourists and locals alike.

The mural is painted on the wall of The Prestonpans Bowling Club and features a series of murals depicting the town of Prestonpans. These murals are located along the high street, near the Cockenzie Power Station, and they serve as a symbol of the region’s rich historical heritage.

The battle of Prestonpans was fought in 1745, during the Jacobite Rising. The battle is considered one of the significant events in Scottish history, leading to the end of the Stuart dynasty and the eventual restoration of the Hanoverian monarchy.

The mural was painted by Tom Ewing, a local artist, and created by a team of local artists. The mural depicts the iconic events of the battle, including the conflict between the Scottish Jacobites and the Hanoverian forces led by Sir John Cope. The mural is situated in the historic village of Prestonpans, and it serves as a symbol of the region’s rich historical heritage.

In the summer of 2007, the Battle of Prestonpans mural was unveiled as part of the annual Prestonpans Festival. The mural is located on the High Street, near the Cockenzie Power Station, and it has become a popular attraction for tourists and locals alike.

The mural is painted on the wall of The Prestonpans Bowling Club and features a series of murals depicting the town of Prestonpans. These murals are located along the high street, near the Cockenzie Power Station, and they serve as a symbol of the region’s rich historical heritage.

The battle of Prestonpans was fought in 1745, during the Jacobite Rising. The battle is considered one of the significant events in Scottish history, leading to the end of the Stuart dynasty and the eventual restoration of the Hanoverian monarchy.

The mural was painted by Tom Ewing, a local artist, and created by a team of local artists. The mural depicts the iconic events of the battle, including the conflict between the Scottish Jacobites and the Hanoverian forces led by Sir John Cope. The mural is situated in the historic village of Prestonpans, and it serves as a symbol of the region’s rich historical heritage.

In the summer of 2007, the Battle of Prestonpans mural was unveiled as part of the annual Prestonpans Festival. The mural is located on the High Street, near the Cockenzie Power Station, and it has become a popular attraction for tourists and locals alike.

The mural is painted on the wall of The Prestonpans Bowling Club and features a series of murals depicting the town of Prestonpans. These murals are located along the high street, near the Cockenzie Power Station, and they serve as a symbol of the region’s rich historical heritage.
The Murals & Their Artists

MURALS TOURS

11. Miners’ Wives and Soap - Foreshore, Sea Wall, High Street; Kate Hunter

12. Youth Mural - Foreshore, Sea Wall, High Street; Andrew Crummy

13. Transportation - Foreshore, Sea Wall, High Street; Andrew Crummy

14. Street Art - Foreshore, Sea Wall, High Street; Andrew Crummy

15. Totem Pole - Car Park; ARTISTS: Tom Ewing, Kenny Grieve and Community

16. Salters’ Mural - Scotmid Car Park, High Street; ARTIST: Kate Hunter

17. Murals Map - Car Park; ARTIST: Andrew Crummy

18. Summerlee - High Street; ARTIST: Tom Ewing

19. Murals Map - Car Park; ARTIST: Andrew Crummy

20. Sir John Cope Takes Flight 1745 -

21. Witches Gates - The Prestoungrange Gothenburg, the Gardens; Tom Ewing

22. Witches Experience & staircase - The Prestoungrange Gothenburg, the Gardens; Laura Young & Children

23. Sam Burns - on B1347; ARTIST: Andrew Crummy

24. Gothenburg and John Muir - Foreshore, High Street; Kate Hunter

25. Redburn Dairy - Redburn Road; Adele Conn

26. How to Find Us

The Prestoungrange Gothenburg, 227-239 High Street, Prestonpans, East Lothian EH32 9BE, Scotland

Tel: (01875) 819922 / Open Wednesdays & Saturdays 10-12.30, 2-4.30

www.prestoungrange.org/gothenburg

The Prestoungrange Gothenburg is open all year round for guided group tours by arrangement. These guided tours cater for a minimum of 8 people with the maximum capacity for 15. Each tour is charged a fee of £7.50 per person. You can determine the length of the tour or split the tour over lunch, dinner, coffee break.

The benefits include:

- You can finish the tour back at The Prestoungrange Gothenburg - refreshments!
- If you have arranged a tour of the micro-brewery, we can provide refreshments with tea and scones or a light lunch.
- The benefits do not apply to pre-arranged tours.

TOUR PRICES...

MURAL 1 - A 1.5 hour tour around 12 murals starting at The Prestoungrange Gothenburg.

Includes coffee and scones...........................................£12.95

Includes light lunch.......................................................£15.95

MURAL 2 - A 1.5 hour tour of the Prestoungrange Murals starting at The Prestoungrange Gothenburg.

Includes coffee and scones...........................................£12.95

Includes light lunch.......................................................£15.95

The Prestoungrange Arts Festival thanks you for sharing in Scotland’s Living Gallery, supporting our community and immersing yourself in our rich heritage. Through these murals we are helping to achieve social and economic regeneration for Prestonpans, a town that once thrived on its local industries.